

Moving forward into GW2

Contributed by Administrator
Thursday, 02 August 2012
Last Updated Friday, 03 August 2012

Finally, the game developers have released some long awaited sequels to some MGA favorites! The long anticipated Diablo 3 saw its release in May and Guild Wars 2 releases August 28! We had hoped that the release of these favorites would result in our seeing the return of members who had wandered off to other endeavors while waiting. Sadly, this has not been the case. Many people have moved on, lives have changed and people have gotten busy or maybe disinterested in gaming (blasphemy!) Regardless the reason, we have not seen the resurgence in numbers that supports the formation of an MGA division in Guild Wars 2, at this time. For those of us that remain, rebuilding from scratch is not something that we have the time or resources to do. That being said, there is good news! Ultimate Genesis, our dear alliance friends from Guild Wars, have extended the offer to any returning MGA members to join their ranks. GEN has a philosophy about gaming, people and relationship that mirrors our own and joining them would likely be a comfortable fit for any MGA member; many of whom have spent countless fun filled hours playing with GEN over the years. We would love to hook back up and play with you, our old and dear friends, and we encourage you to check out the GEN site at <http://www.ultimategenesis.com> . Hoping to game with you soon! :)

Cher